Ballot Box Ballads

On the Campaign Trail In Song and Tale

Before there were media "attack ads", "blitzes" and "spin-doctoring" in elections, campaign songs employed these same strategies. Suzanne and Jim have gathered an entertaining selection of Presidential campaign songs from the days of William Henry Harrison into the 20th Century. These songs are not simply historical curiosities, they reflect enduring themes of the American political process.

In Concert

"Ballot Box Ballads...was an excellent program and well received by the audience. The quality of the music was outstanding as well as an expression of the era it pertained to. The narrative was historically accurate and informative to the audience." -The Defiance College, Defiance, OH-
