

Suzanne and Jim

PRESENT

SING! SING! SING!

America has always been a nation of singing people. This program surveys more than a century of our country's musical life — songs sung around the family piano, at community gatherings, on long car trips or at work and play.

Suzanne and Jim have extensively researched library collections of 19th Century popular sheet music, songsters and published collections including Carl Sandburg's "American Songbag", Vance Randolph's "Ozark Folksongs" and the Lomax's "Folk Songs of North America". The program includes the works of great American composers such as Stephen Foster, Daniel Decatur Emmett and Woody Guthrie and songs of unknown origin.

From Tin Pan Alley, the cabin porch or down the open trail Suzanne and Jim chronicle the American experience with splendid music, interesting tales and a touch of gentle, homespun humor.
